WILMINGTON, N. C.
Friday, October 24th, 1873.

A PROCLAMATION.

By the President of the United States of America.

The approaching close of another year brings with it the occasion for renewed thanksgiving and acknowledgment to the Almighty Ruler of the Universe for the unnumbered mercies which He has bestowed upon us.

Abundant harvests have been among the rewards of industry. With local exceptions health has been among the many blessings enjoyed. Tranquillity at home and peace with other nations have prevailed. Frugal industry is regaining its merited recognition and its merited rewards.

Gradually, but, under the providence of God, surely, as we trust, the nation is recovering from the lingering results of a dreadful civil strife.

For these and all the other mercies vouchsafed, it becomes us as a people to return heartfelt and grateful acknowledgments, and with our thanksgiving for blessings we may unite prayers for the cessation of local and temporary sufferings.

I, therefore, recommend that on Thursday, the twenty-seventh day of November next, the people meet in their respective places of worship, to make their acknowledgments to Almighty God for His bounties and His protection, and to offer to Him prayers for their continuance.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington this 14th day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-three, and [L.S.] of the independence of the United States the ninety-seventh.

U. S. GRANT.

By the President:
HAMILTON FISH,
Secretary of State.

The Post is requested by the Sentinel to lead in prayer for Holden and Harper, the latter being the man who offers to bet five thousand dollars on the assassination of President Grant. When we pray for reprobates we assure the Sentinel there are a few others we shall specially mention. And we also say to that newspaper that we have other matter for our columns than the records and utterances of bitterness provoked by war, which are forgotten by all except those who cherish envy, hatred or malice.

Monopolies.

In one of Macaulay's essays the periodical spasms of virtue which seize the British public about every seven years is forcibly portrayed. In American politics similar fits of reform occupy the attention of the newspapers and some portion of the masses. Now it is monopolies against which the brazen throats of self-seekers are opened. Undoubtedly monopoly in the abstract is opposed to the progress of a people. The common sense of mankind, and the constitution of our country, oppose it. But when we come to examine closely into the practical effect of the prohibition, it is found that like most other human experience, there are exceptions. At least two are recognized by our laws and, perhaps, more by common sense.

All patents are monopolies. All copyrights are monopolies; and in our free Republic inventors and authors are entitled by law to the sole benefits, for a certain number of years, accruing from their skill and intelligence. And justly so. For what inducement would be held out to the skill of analysis and combination which marks the inventor, or the mental effort of writers, if the pecuniary results of their labors can be taken by any one?

Many other monopolies exist by reason of the impossibility of competition. A large capital invested in an enterprise makes it a monopoly except to other large capitalists, and other large capitalists become partners in the monopoly when they engage in the same business. The Union Pacific railroad is now the only one across the continent. It is a monopoly, and will continue to be so for years. It is not advisable on that account to do away with it, or with any other railway line in the country, because they can carry freight and passengers cheaper than any one else, and thus become a monopoly in the business.

The fact is that much of the outcry against monopolies, especially railroads, comes from agrarian tendencies. Candid and fair minded men must see that these great corporations with such immense amounts of capital invested in such a manner, cannot without danger of much loss, be interfered with except in extreme cases. The spirited capitalists of this country are generally alive to the opportunities for investments, to compete when the traffic holds out inducements. Railroads are better managed by men familiar with them than by newspaper men. The public interests are usually better subserved while these corporations are under the control of men trained in the business, than by men ignorant of all details and principles of railroad government. And to such let them be intrusted.

EDITORIAL BUDGET.

— A telegram from Calcutta to the London Times says a severe famine is threatened in Bengal.

— One hundred thousand dollars in specie were shipped from Liverpool for New York on Tuesday.

— Details of the attempt to assassinate President Sarmiento, of the Argentine Republic, show that it had a connection with the Entre Rios war, and not with election politics. One of the would-be assassins (who was an Italian) had his hand shattered by the bursting of his blunderbuss. The entire community are horrified, and beg the government to inflict severe punishment on the captured men.

— A meeting of the delegates of the Right Centre was held in Paris on Wednesday, Duke D'Audouert Pasquier presiding. A resolution recalling the Count de Cambord to France was unanimously adopted. The meeting also adopted a resolution formally coalescing with the members of the Right. A communication was addressed to the party of the Left Centre, with a view to an understanding upon the questions of the moment.

— The Grand Jury of the Territorial District Court for this county returned an indictment against P. H. Wintermute, who shot Secretary McCook, charging him with manslaughter only. The friends of Gen. McCook are very indignant, and do not hesitate to say that a number of the Grand Jury have been unduly influenced, and that Wintermute has been using money freely wherever it would "do the most good."

Judge Barnes censured the jury when the indictment was presented in the severest terms, and in closing told them they might retire, but without the thanks of the court. It is understood that several of the members stood out strenuously for an indictment for murder, until they found that they must take manslaughter or nothing, the vote being equally divided. It is understood that the next move of the defence will be for bail, and then for delay and a continuance. This may be found an unwise course to persist in, as the feeling is very strong, and many regard the course of the Grand Jury as a confession of fear to submit the question of murder to a petit jury; and when an impression shall prevail that justice is to be defeated by the use of money or otherwise, serious results may follow.

— Senators Windom, Sherman, Conkling, Norwood and Davis, of the United States Senate Committee on Inland Transportation, arrived in Richmond on Tuesday. A conference was held today, which was attended by Hon. Mr. Hereford, of West Virginia; Hon. Thomas S. Bocock, of Virginia, and delegations of prominent citizens from Norfolk and Lynchburg. After inspecting the first level of the James River and Kanawha canal and the shiplocks, the committee examined a number of witnesses, including Mr. Bocock, Col. Craighill, chief engineer of the James river improvements; Col. Whitcomb, chief engineer of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad; Gen. Haupt, former engineer of the Hoosac tunnel, and now general manager of the air line between Richmond and Atlanta. The testimony taken was chiefly with a view of ascertaining the practicability of the proposed completion of the James river and Kanawha canal and the construction of tunnel for it a length of nine miles. The opinion of the engineers was to the effect the means being supplied for the work, the tunnel and canal could be completed within five years, at a cost of fourteen millions. The committee go hence to-morrow to Charlestown, West Virginia, and thence to St. Louis, Cincinnati and Louisville.

— The Right Honorable John Bright addressed an assemblage, estimated to number sixteen thousand, in Birmingham Wednesday night. He commended the administration of Gladstone for its past legislation with the exception of the education act, which he said was framed in a hasty manner, and is incomplete. He advocated the repeal of clause twenty-five of the act by which denominational schools are allowed to receive payment from the public rates. In his opinion a general re-examination of the question was necessary. Speaking of the war against the Ashantes, Mr. Bright said that no one was more anxious than the Administration for a reasonable and pacific adjustment of the difficulty. He believed the interests and honor of the country would be best consulted by the absolute withdrawal of the British colonies from the Ashantee coast at no distant date. He then referred to the relations between Great Britain and the U. S. Some Englishmen had spoken of the Treaty of Washington as humiliating to Great Britain. The humiliation was between 1861 and 1865. If, at that time, the British Government had practiced towards the United States a generous neutrality the weather classes of England would not, in the main, have sided with the insurrectionary slave-holding planters. If the newspapers here had then dealt in an aspect of fairness with our trans-Atlantic kinsmen the disputes settled by the treaty of 1872 would not have arisen. The conduct of the Administration in reference to that treaty and the subsequent arbitration under its provisions had added a nobler page to the history of England than had all the bloody battles recorded in its history. He praised the Earl of Derby for initiating the method of settling international disputes by arbitration, for the reduction of the qualifications necessary to the exercise of the country franchise, for the redistribution of the representation in Parliament, and for moving for a reform of the game and land laws. He said that among the questions which demanded an early solution, the last was the one especially of interest to the agricultural laborers of the country, whom the present system, tending to the acquirement of large landed estates, debarred from all hopes of proprietorship in the soil. He acknowledged the harshness of the operation of the tax upon incomes. Reviewing the forty years of supremacy of the Liberals in the Government as years of progress and prosperity to the country, he animadverted severely upon the Conservatives' obstructiveness and their present lack of settled policy, and urged the country to continue to support the Liberal party. Mr. Bright's address occupied an hour and ten minutes in its delivery, and was received with unflagging enthusiasm to its close.

RACE--A race between the steamships

Lucile and Pioneer as they steamed up the river this morning was watched by many persons on the wharf. The steamships came over the bar about the same time and started up the river at full speed. They kept together for a long time, but the Lucile gradually and slowly gained on her rival and ran up to her wharf about ten feet ahead of the Pioneer.

TAXES--The Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners of this County received a letter last Wednesday night from Hon. D. A. Jenkins, State

REV. Dr. Cross, P. E. of this District passed through the city today. He has completely recovered from the severe illness he recently passed through, and is now looking very well.

THE Uniform Lodge, Knights of Pythias gave their first parade through the city yesterday and presented a very handsome appearance in their new regalia.

The drill was one of the most noticeable features of the occasions. The welcome address was delivered by Mr. W. H. Gerken, and responded to in his own terse way by the Grand Chancellor, W. A. Guthrie, Esq.

In the evening the gallant Knights and ladies fair assembled at the Opera House and were soon reveling in the art Terpsichore. The evening passed off pleasantly, every one returned to their respective homes descending upon the delightful time they had spent.

A DESPERADO--A colored man who answered to the name of John Allen, on the sound where he formerly resided and John Smith in Brunswick county, where he has been for sometime past, stole a large fine hog from the plantation of Judge Russell ten days ago, tied the animal with a piece of rope and travelled eight miles on the main road offering him for sale to parties who happened to be passing, and again a few nights following the theft of the hog, he stole a saddle from the same gentleman and rode off to the Shanties about ten miles from the city where he lived. Allen alias Smith informed his inceptor that it was his intention of taking one of Mr. E.

Thomas' large horses and ride him into

South Carolina. Judge Russell, hearing that Allen or Smith had stolen the hog and saddle, and that it was his intention of stealing the horse, issued a bench warrant for the arrest of Allen alias Smith, and deputized D. R. Wat-ker to make the arrest, who summoned a posse to assist him in catching the thief. He was arrested at Nelson's Shanties, and carried before E. Thomas, Justice of the Peace, who found him guilty of the theft of the hog and saddle, and bound him over in the sum of $200 in each case. Being unable to give security, he was sent to jail under the charge of constable T. Bryant. After securely tying him, as the officer supposed, he left for Smithville with his prisoner, and when near the jail the thief succeeded in nutting himself snatched a stick from the officer, and dealt him a blow which felled him to the ground, cutting a gash in his head about three inches long, and succeeded in making good his escape. Allen, or Smith, has been tracked as far as Mr. Owen Holmes' plantation, where he asked of some of the hands the way to Wilmington. It is supposed that he crossed over the river Tuesday night, and is still lurking about our city. Let the police be on the lookout for Allen, and all other thieves who fly to our city to evade the officers of the law of other counties. Allen is coal black, about five, and a half feet high, apparently about twenty-two years old and weighs about one hundred and fifty pounds.

ANecdote of President Lincoln.

Some one contributes to the Ledger a new and touching anecdote of President Lincoln's goodness of heart: The President dropped into Secretary Stanton's office one morning, and seated himself at a table on which were a number of petitions for appointment to an important position recently vacated; after looking at one or two of the formidable documents, bristling with influential names, asked the Secretary if
